Israeli Turns Seized Territory Over to UN

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli forces turned over control of Sharm el Shikh to the United Nations today and began their withdrawal from the last territory won in the invasion of Egypt.

This was announced by an Israeli military spokesman, who said a small contingent of troops would remain for several days to complete removal of equipment from the strategic area guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

Finnish troops of the U. N. Emergency Force moved in from the southwest Sinai Peninsula for the takeover.

About 100 men and a girl comprise the Israeli garrison for Sharm el Shikh and nearby Tiran Island in the Gulf of Aqaba. They were leaving by plane.

With no guarantee of how long the U. N. troops would remain in control of Sharm el Shikh, the Israelis yesterday destroyed Egyptian military installations which had been used to keep ships from reaching the Israeli port of Eilat, at the head of the gulf.

The Israelis blew up concrete pillboxes, bunkers, an ammunition depot and two six-inch coastal guns. They already had spiked the guns after the invasion.

Earlier, the Israelis forces had shipped home valuable supplies of tanks, guns, vehicles and other equipment. Much of it was captured from the Egyptians by the invading force which knifed across the Sinai Peninsula in October and November.

Three hundred miles North, the Israelis completed withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and UNEF was in full control.

Col. Matityahu Peled, departing Israeli military governor of the Gaza Strip, called on the 300,000 residents in a proclamation to observe law and order. Most of the inhabitants, including about 200,000 Palestine Arab refugees who hate Israel intensely, remained indoors under a curfew.

UNEF's tenure in the Gaza Strip is as indefinite as a Sharm el Shikh, Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, UNEF commander, issued a proclamation at Cairo announcing his forces were moving in "with the consent of the government of Egypt" to manage civil affairs until further arrangements are made.

He ordered the population to remain quiet and not to carry arms.

The Israelis left behind six Arab Municipal Councils set up to conduct civil affairs. U. N. officials said they had enough experts in their corps of administrators, to administer the strip without calling in Egyptian civilians Israel is bitterly opposed to the return of the Egyptians, claiming they used the strip as a base for guerrilla raids across the border.

The Israelis agreed to let the United Nations use their rail line from Haifa to move food and other supplies to Arab refugee camps in Gaza.

The opposition to Premier David Ben-Gurion's government continued to whip up sentiment against the withdrawal. Some 10,000 masses in Tel Aviv for a protest rally organized by the Harut (Freedom) party. Speakers demanded that Ben-Gurion resign.

Peach Crop Heavily Hit by the Cold

Sub-freezing weather took a heavy toll of peaches at the University of Arkansas Experiment Station last night, Cecil Bittle, director in charge, said today.

After a mild-morning check he gave the following report:

Low areas, full bloom, 90% killed; High areas, full bloom, 70% killed; the kill was 45% of buds in the blossom stage.

However, there is still a chance of a fair peach crop, Mr. Bittle said, indicating that saving 10 to 15 per cent of the blossoms left would produce a good crop.

Report from the Experiment Station indicates in local commercial orchards 70% of the full-bloom peach blossoms were killed, and 20% in the bud or blossom stage were killed.

Retalitory Action Expected Says Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus today said that it was possible but not probable that House members would try to tie up appropriation bills for some state colleges as a retaliatory action against the Senate.

Several senators yesterday charged that Rep. E. C. (Eugene) Fleeman of Mississippi County and other representatives had threatened to stall some bills if the Senate refused to pass an insurance bill authored by Fleeman. The Senate defeated the insurance measure.

"Such tactics are technically possible," Faubus said. "But I don't think it probable. There has been no indication to me that this would happen."

The governor said, "Fleeman was in my office after the session yesterday, but he seemed in a good mood. He said he had lost a battle but there was no indication of anger or bitterness."

Union Boss Cleared, Says Bakers Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Executive Board of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union said today it had cleared the union president, James G. Cross, of charges of "improper conduct" and misuse of union funds.

The action was announced after the group had heard testimony in secret sessions which started yesterday.

The union secretary-treasurer, Curtis R. Sims, brought the accusations against Cross and a union vice president, George Stuart. He accused both of financial irregularities, but named Cross only in five of the charges.

A board spokesman said the board's decision was to "completely clear both of the charges against them."

The financial charges by Sims included accusations that Cross and Stuart had run local unions under their trusteeship for personal financial gain, had submitted vouchers for "excessive and unjustified" expenditures, and that Cross had "wrongfully diverted the property of the international (union) for his personal pleasures and uses."

Sims also had accused Cross of "close alliances with employers in the industry with whom the union negotiates," and with maintaining "an intimate relationship with a person of ill fame and criminal reputation and record."

Cross had described the charges as "ridiculous."

Two Negro youths, both under 20, were sentenced to three years in the Arkansas Penitentiary yesterday by Judge Lyle Brown.

The are Jimmy Lee Lindsey and James Robinson.

Both pleaded guilty to burglary of several Negro establishments last month.

The Old-Time American Dream Not Fashionable

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbside comments of a Pavement Plato: There was a time when the American dream called for a bathroom in every home, an electric light in every room, a car in every garage and a chicken in every pot.

This was the goal of prosperity, and the hope was that it all could be won by working a 5-day, 40-hour week.

How old-fashioned that dream seems now! The present dream is one of multiple plenty. A family is falling behind the Joneses if it doesn't have at least two of everything — and maybe three.

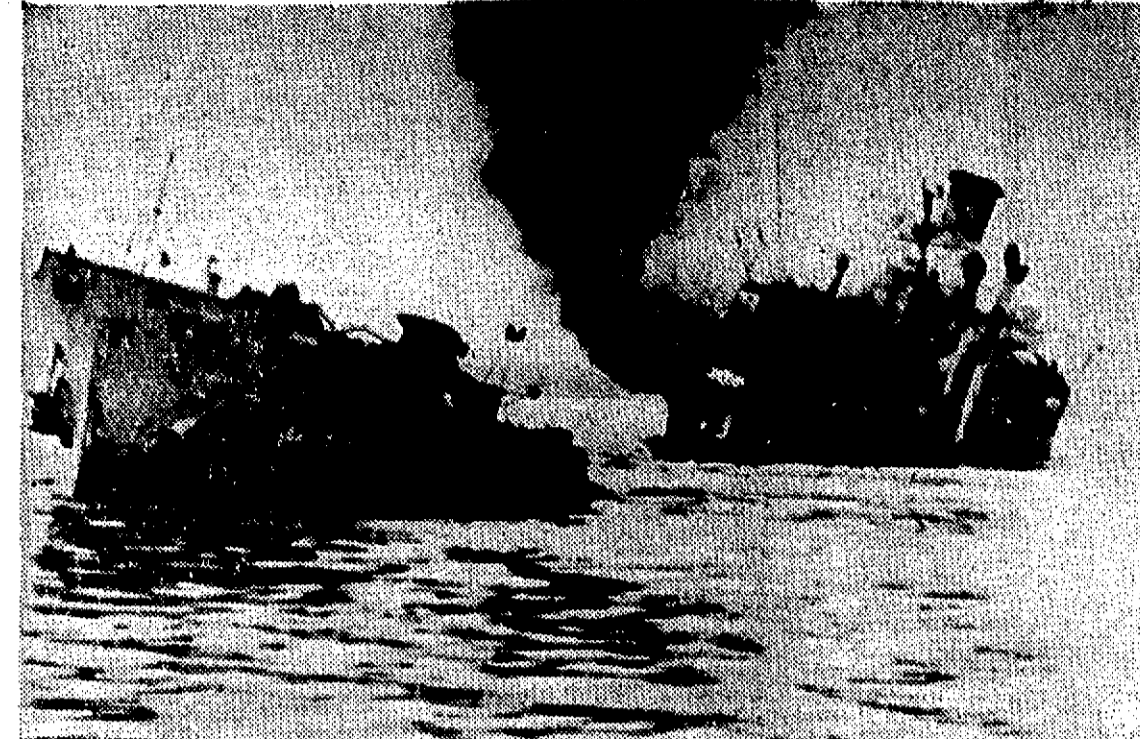

The goal now is two telephones and two television sets in every home, a bathroom for every bedroom, a radio and at least two floor lamps for every room, and at least two cars for every garage. All this is supposed to be achieved now on a 5-day, 30-hour week.

Once the American home was a single gas stove and an icebox now overflows with an electric stove, an electric oven, a broiler and a refrigerator as big as a closet — the deep freeze is so big it has to be put in the basement.

Today it has a dust mop, a broom, a carpet sweeper, and a vacuum cleaner with 37 different kinds of attachments.

Remember the first pioneer in your neighborhood who bought a room air-conditioner? Now it isn't enough to air-condition even the entire house. At least one of the family cars should be air-conditioned, too.

Where will it all end? Why, we aren't even half-way to happiness yet. In the last campaign...

Several Bills Missing From House Files

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Senate bill to establish a commission to regulate automobile dealers and several other measures are missing from House files, it was disclosed after Rep. W. L. Ward of Lee demanded to know what had happened to the controversial Motor Vehicle Commission bill, which yesterday opponents had attempted unsuccessfully to have recalled from the House.

He said that apparently some members had taken them from the cabinet in which they are kept without signing receipts.

Ward said that certified duplicates were kept in a locked safe and could be used instead of the original bills.

Later, Chief Clerk Hal Moody told a reporter that tentatively five bills are now out of the files without receipts but that it was possible some of them might have been returned.

Hope, Prescott Trying to Bring Plant to Emmet

Delegates from Hope, Emmet and Prescott joined together at a meeting in Prescott last night and discussed the possibility of obtaining a large industrial plant that would employ 400 women and furnish a payroll of better than $16,000 per week.

The big plant, seeking a location in this area, manufactures women's undergarments and hosiery.

A site fronting Highway 67 near Emmet was discussed as a logical place for the location. In order to provide an ample labor supply, the plant could draw from the three towns involved plus Blewins, McCaskill and Rosston area.

Construction of a 40,000 square foot building, with air-conditioned offices and cafeteria is involved.

The building would cost about $300,000 of which nearly $120,000 would have to be raised between the towns involved.

The Emmet delegation expressed the opinion that land, water and sewerage facilities would be furnished by that town, leaving Hope, and Prescott the sum of $60,000 each to raise. The balance would be financed. The plant would furnish its equipment and operating capital.

It was brought out at the meeting that several other Arkansas towns are seeking the plant and it was decided to give the matter publicity in order to build opinion and sentiment.

Court Test of Transporting Catholics

By KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A possible new Supreme Court test of the use of public funds for transporting pupils to Roman Catholic parochial schools is being generated in Augusta, Maine.

Ten years have passed since the court ruled 5-4 that public tax receipts may be used for transporting parochial as well as public school pupils.

Of the nine justices who took part in the Feb. 10, 1947, ruling, which has been the court's last word on the question, only four remain. These four divided 2-2 on the issue.

Justice Black, now the court's senior justice, wrote the majority opinion. Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Reed, Douglas and Murphy concurred. Of these, only Douglas still sits on the court. Vinson and Murphy are dead, and Reed retired last month.

Of the four dissenters, Justices Rutledge and Jackson are dead. Justices Frankfurter and Burton, the other dissenters, remain on the court.

The 5-4 decision was a major interpretation of the First Amendment to the Constitution, which says: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The litigation was proposed as a means of reducing production glut which have forced down prices in the Midwest Corn Belt. But it brought two days of heated and often personal wrangling over rival Republican and Democratic proposals.

Before it laid aside farm legislation until next Tuesday, the House killed by a seven-vote margin a Republican proposal to give corn growers an expanded planting allotment and apportion floor of 75 per cent of parity.

Parity is a price deemed fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

To shouts of "Now you're talking," Rep. Colmer (D-Miss) suggested that the best thing might be to refer the entire dispute back to the Agriculture Committee.

Rep. H. Carl Anderson (R-Min.) likened yesterday's proceedings to a "wakeup for the farm bloc" which he said in the past had been united in the interests of the farmers.

Whether the House would enact a program in time to be effective before spring planting appeared to depend on weekend conferences between partisan factions.

Farm Leaders Start 4-Day Cooling Period

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today started a four-day cooling-off period as farm leaders sought to compromise partisan differences over proposed new farm subsidies for corn and feed grain growers.

The legislation was proposed as a means of reducing production glut which have forced down prices in the Midwest Corn Belt. But it brought two days of heated and often personal wrangling over rival Republican and Democratic proposals.

Before it laid aside farm legislation until next Tuesday, the House killed by a seven-vote margin a Republican proposal to give corn growers an expanded planting allotment and apportion floor of 75 per cent of parity.

Negro Students Quit, Alcorn College Closes

ALCORN, Miss. (UP) — The 570 students of Alcorn A. & M. state college for Negroes quit today in protest against an "Uncle Tom" professor who adopted White Citizens Council criticisms of his own race.

Student President Ernest McEwin said the student body voted unanimously to leave, forcing the 86-year-old college to close, rather than accept a state college board ultimatum to end their half-week classroom boycott.

The students had demanded instead the dismissal of history professor Clennon King because of his published articles criticizing organized movements of Negroes to overthrow segregation in the South.

McEwin said the 300 students living on the campus began packing their bags last night and early today and that all of them by this weekend will turn in notices of withdrawal to the school administration.

Students boycotted all classes Wednesday in protest of a series of newspaper articles written in the Jackson, Miss., State Times by King. He wrote that the NAACP was hurting the cause of the Negro in the South.

King criticized the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people for its organized integration movements.

College President J. R. Otis, who sided with the students to the extent of recommending King's dismissal, was met with laughter while read the students' board's five-point ultimatum.

When Otis called for a vote on whether to comply the students stood, sang their alma mater and marched out.

King, who has traveled throughout the United States and Europe and received a part of his education in Ohio, said his "Uncle Tom" label now differs from previous meanings.

"No Negro welcomes being called an Uncle Tom," he said. "To most Negro citizens an Uncle Tom is a low, inconsistent, sneaking, double-talking, head-scratching character that neither white nor Negro can trust."

King added he would resign if he is paid for the remainder of the term.

Israel Complies Fully, Dag Tells the UN

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld announced today that Israel has fully complied with U. N. demands that it withdraw from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm el Shikh area of Egypt.

He also reported to the General Assembly that he had made arrangements to assist the U. N. Emergency Force in the temporary administration of the Gaza Strip.

He gave no indication of his long-term recommendations.

He said his understanding was that the Assembly had given him authority to work out future arrangements "in the light of further study and consultations."

Hammarskjöld's report was circulated to the 80-nation Assembly prepared to convene in a late afternoon session to wind up the current phase of the Middle East debate, which began with the invasion of Egypt by Britain, France and Israel more than four months ago.

Junior Play Cast Active in School Affairs

The leading characters in this year's junior play, "Come Out of the Closet" to be given March 15, are Sue Houston, Caroline Cox, Carolyn Strong, Royce Welsenberger, and Jimmy Chambliss.

Others in the cast are Susan Davis, Lanell Fuller, David Pearson, Sheila Foster, Jimmy Jones, and Oliver Adams. Jo Jo Owens is the student director, and Marilyn Reece is prompter.

Sue Houston is a member of the FFA, History Club, and a cheerleader. Caroline Cox, also a cheerleader, is a member of the FFA, Library Club, Quill and Scroll, and Hi-Lights staff. Carolyn Strong is on the executive committee of the student council, 1956 state president of the Children of Confederacy, and 1955 UPC Page. She is also a member of the FFA, Library Club, Quill and Scroll, and is on the Hi-Lights staff.

Department Store Sales Decline

store sales dropped seven per cent last week in the Eighth Federal Reserve District, with each major shopping area reporting a decline compared to the same week of 1956.

Sales were off 3 per cent in St. Louis, 14 per cent in Louisville, 9 per cent in Memphis and 20 per cent in Little Rock.

In eight smaller district cities combined, sales were about same as in the same week of last year, the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank reported today.

District sales averaged 2 per cent under the comparable 1956 period in the four weeks ending March 2.

Administration Again Seeks Postal Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the Eisenhower administration has asked Congress to raise postal rates to ease a postal operating deficit now running about 650 million dollars a year.

Its recommendations yesterday did not go as far as had been expected. Previously, administration officials had indicated they would request a boost from 3 to 5 cents in the price of letter stamp.

However, Postmaster General Summerfield called for a 4-cent first-class rate and increases from 6 to 7 cents for airmail; 2 to 3 cents for post cards; 4 to 5 cents for air post cards.

The proposals also would mean rate increases for second class mail, newspapers and magazines; third-class mail, advertising matter; and books sent by fourth-class mail.

In a letter sent to Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.), Summerfield urged Congress to act quickly.

Last year, the House approved a 1-cent increase in first-class mail rates, but the Senate took no action.

Summerfield said the proposed increases would produce additional revenues of about $27 million annually by 1961.

New Lighting System for School Stage

Various civic clubs of Hope reported quickly today after Fire Chief A. S. (Pap) Willis declared the electrical lighting system on the stage of the Hope High School auditorium a definite fire hazard.

Representatives of Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary, PTA, Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce held a group meeting and mapped plans to correct the situation.

Plans call for the installation of a new fire-proof theatrical lighting system that will top any other high school stage in Arkansas, the cost to be borne by the various civic clubs, and any individual or organization wishing to donate to the fund.

Allen Electric Company and Greenlee Sheet Metal Works are furnishing all materials and equipment at cost.

Project expenditure will be about $600. Various organizations use the high school stage, and it was felt the organizations should bear the cost, as well as eliminate a fire hazard.

Mrs. J. E. Woodul, 67, of Emmet, Dies Friday

Mrs. J. E. Woodul, aged 67, long time resident of Emmet, died at her home early Friday following a long illness.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Jeff Hamilton and Mrs. Lois Glanton of Emmet.

Funeral services will be announced by Herndon-Cornelius. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Saturday afternoon at Harmony near Sutton. Rev. Wesley Thomason will conduct the services. Burial will be in Harmony with Herndon-Cornelius in charge.

Faubus Declares Teachers Bonus Stupid, Selfish

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus today said that "no one should be so stupid or selfish as to want to tear up" the over-all administration revenue and distribution program.

He made his statement at a news conference when the questioning again turned to his attitude on the so-called one-million-dollar bonus for teacher salary increases this school year.

Faubus, who had previously said he would veto the immediate increase if it reaches him, said that his attitude had not changed.

He told reporters that he "wouldn't stand for one group more than any other" attempting to get when he considers special concessions under the program.

Some legislators have contended that the impression was left that there would be immediate increases. The program calls for some $14,300,000 in additional school aid beginning with the next school year.

Faubus declared that "it was never intimated or indicated in any manner" that his program was a "teachers' program."

He again described it as an overall plan for the schools, colleges welfare department and construction for various state institutions.

The Legislature has voted and Faubus has approved an additional 22 million dollars a year in revenue for the program and this is to be augmented by several million dollars from a reserve fund, statement using the word "stupid" before he made his general Faubus had used the same adjective in talking about the attitude of teachers toward he bill.

He said that any teacher "who understands the program won't be for the bonus bill."

A reporter suggested that some teachers did not understand. The usually mild-mannered Faubus replied, with some heat, "If they're that stupid, they shouldn't be teachers."

In reply to a question, however, Faubus said that he had seen no indication that it was the teachers themselves who were pushing for adoption of the bonus bill.

Faubus has repeatedly said that the approximately one million dollars a year which would be used for immediate salary increases is sure that there will be a reserve needed for construction and to assist until the tax increases become fully effective.

Today, he added that if he had agreed to the immediate salary increase, other groups which are not supposed to get added money until the beginning of the next fiscal year also might have tried to get more money immediately.

Under the bonus bill, each teacher would receive about $70 before June 30.

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The words of my title, as readers will recognize, are a part of St. Paul's counsel to the early Christian in Ephesians 4:32.

The words were burned deeply into my consciousness by an editorial experience some years ago. I was preparing a double, Christmas number of The Congregationalist, then a weekly, and working on a very tight schedule. A principal feature was to be a Christmas sermon by the late Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, long minister of the famous Broadway Tabernacle Church, which stands on the fringe of the theater district in New York.

The sermon was late in arriving in Boston, and when it came, instead of the scheduled 1,500 words, it ran to 2,500.

The rest of the paper was all in the forms, ready for the press. Time was essential. There was nothing to do but cut it down, and I went over it again and again.

Most sermons might bear a lot of editing, but not Jefferson's. He was the utmost precisionist among the great preachers of our time. But out of necessity if acted with courage.

When I apologized to Dr. Jefferson, he told me that I had improved the sermon—which was generous but untrue, for Jefferson never put in a sermon anything to be taken out with.

One outstanding thing I remember. It was in the nature of a personal confession, Jefferson, good Christian as he was, had the reputation of being a rather irascible temper. A precisionist in language as well as in conduct, he was apt to be short tempered about less exact actions or irritations.

In his sermon he said that one heard during the day the quick or angry word, but did not see him (Jefferson, himself) at night as he knelt by his bedside and poured out his soul to God in contrition for the errors of the day.

That is a matter, I believe, that concerns us all, for in most, if not all of us, there are inner qualities that even our nearest friends do not see or know. They are what God sees, and these we do not wish to conceal from Him, even if we could.

So far as Jefferson was concerned, I knew the great preacher in his bedside character. During years of association in some difficult and most embarrassing situations he came through with a magnanimity that gave me much treasured memories. The kindness of which he preached was deep in his soul.

Kindness, too, is the very essence of the Christian virtues. Love, forgiveness, mercy—all are centered in and find their expression in kindness.

And kindness is today the most essential quality in which the world is lacking.

Perhaps, by the time these words are in print, a better situation may have come. But we are far from a world in which kindness has any essential part.

And a part of the distress is that you and I can do little about it, except in our personal lives and relationships to be "kind to one another." Perhaps if we all do that it may have more influence than we realize, even upon the hope of a better world.

Petitions Ask for Hospital Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—A petition is being circulated among Southern congressmen asking segregation of whites and Negroes in veterans hospitals in the South.

Rep. Brooks (D-La.) said the petition will be presented "in the next two or three days" to Administrator Harvey Hixley of the Veterans Administration.

The petition, Brooks said, will ask that segregation among patients be carried out "where local laws are applicable."

The congressmen estimated between 40 and 50 signatures have been put on the petition so far. He declined to give specific wording of the petition or to say who has signed it.

Rep. Tuck (D-Va.) said he has signed the petition although he "had nothing to do with originating it." The former governor of Virginia said state law should apply in the case of federal facilities within a state and that there has been "violation of Virginia laws" in connection with such property for some years. Tuck said he understood some other Virginians have also signed.

Blustery Weather Strikes the Nation

By The Associated Press
The March brand of blustery weather hit wide areas of the country today.

It was cold and windy in most of the north central section and there was widespread precipitation in the form of rain and snow in many areas.

The colder air moved southward over the mid-continent with sharp drops in temperatures reported from Montana to the Great Lakes region and southward to New Mexico and Texas.

Readings in the cold belt ranged from near zero along the Canadian border to 20s through Kansas and Oklahoma and to the 50s in southern Texas.

The gold air headed eastward and was expected to lower temperatures from the Great Lakes region to New York and southern New England through eastern Texas and Mississippi. Only below-freezing area in the East this morning was north of New York and Massachusetts.

Showers of Preview Praise Greet Hal Wallis' New Film

Burt Lancaster and Katharine Hepburn star in the year's dramatic bombshell, Hal Wallis' "The Rainmaker," opening Sunday at the Saenger theater. The Technicolor film co-stars Wendell Corey and Lloyd Bridges.

Hal Wallis' "The Rainmaker," starring Burt Lancaster and Katharine Hepburn, arrives Sunday at the Saenger theater, riding a wave of acclaim that marks it as one of the years great films.

Produced by the maker of "The Rose Tattoo" and "Come Back, Little Sheba," and following the pattern of these memorable pictures in teaming Lancaster with one of the screen's supreme actresses in an unusual story, the Paramount picture has been spoken of in the same breath with "awards" and "highest honors" since its first showing.

A frank film that blends intense drama with moments of high comedy and stormy emotion, "The Rainmaker" tells the story of a fast-talking, footloose and irresponsible confidence man, played by Lancaster, who while promising to bring rain to a drought-stricken farming area, changes the lives of "plain" ranch girl Miss Hepburn and her family, and works a change of fortune for himself.

The story not only offers the incomparable Katie and the versatile Lancaster the opportunity to give what has been called the finest performance of their careers, but presents a brilliant co-starring cast in a wide range of colorful characterizations.

Wendell Corey as the "independent" sheriff who thought he was through with women; Lloyd Bridges as the bitterly realistic brother who finds recklessness is more fun than logic; the new acting sensation, Earl Holliman, as the wild kid who learns to fight fire by playing with it; and Cameron Prud'homme as the father who discovers he's not a failure make up a gallery of portraits that promise to be among the screen's most unforgettable.

Girls Making Passes? Try Wearing Glasses

Dear Dorothy Dix: Since I am quite good looking, women make passes at me. They call, flirt, and write. I have finally met a girl I am willing to date. If I do take her out, I know other girls will pay attention to me and get her jealous. How can I prevent this?

Basil
Or, by some stretch of an inflated ego, are you for real? Surely you aren't seriously considering wasting yourself on one girl and throwing the others into despair!

Congress should declare you a National Monument to be admired by all.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I will celebrate our silver anniversary in a few weeks, and I heard in a round-about way that our friends and relatives don't want anything to do with it. Naturally our feelings are hurt. I can't understand this reaction. Can you?

Claudia
Dear Claudia: You should be thoroughly ashamed of yourselves for even listening to gossip. Go ahead with any anniversary plans you have. If your invitations are flatly refused, then believe me, your friends have deserted you. Make a few resolutions for your anniversary; Don't believe idle talk, don't jump to conclusions, and don't take offense so quickly.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a widow in my sixties, very lonely for companionship. How can I meet a good, kind man? I'm not beautiful but not hard to look at either. Of course I never go anywhere. My friends say I'm very slow, but I can't help it.

Kitty
Dear Kitty: If you're waiting for this good, kind man to come battering your door down, you'll have a long, fruitless vigil. In your age group, there are 2,320,000 widows, and only 743,000 widowers, so you see, at best the odds are against you. Then you cut them down further by hiding yourself where the few lonely men can't find you. Does that make sense?

Go out, but, a tricky hat and go where there are other people—the more the better. There are so many clubs for older people sponsored by churches, civic groups, and religious societies that there's bound to be one near you. Join up and enjoy the fun.

If you can't locate a center, phone the welfare department of your religious affiliation. You may not meet your man, but at least you'll lose your loneliness.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My fiancé gave me a ring for Christmas, but my mother has been complaining that it's too small. She says I should insist on a bigger one. I'm satisfied with the one I have. What shall I do?

D.A.
Dear D. A.: Keep the ring you so proudly and happily accepted. Mom just wants a big sparkler plain Vice President Nixon foresaw a day when Americans might work only four days a week.

When this day arrives and the nations long-range, high-speed highway network is completed, other crystal ball gazers foresee the rise of the two-home family—which will shuttle between its dwelling in the city and its weekend refuge in the country.

Each family home—the one in the city, the one in the country—will, of course, need a broom, a dustmop, a carpet sweeper, a vacuum cleaner, two telephones, two television sets, a radio and a bathroom for every bedroom, three kinds of stoves, a refrigerator, a deep freeze, air-conditioners, and a garage that will hold two or three cars.

This automatically will double the present property, as new automatic factories stamp out fresh millions of the material in gadgets that spoil out America's high standard of living.

But property always has a price tag on it.

One price of the existing property may be reflected in the fact that one out of every two hospital beds in the country is occupied by a mental patient, and one out of every 12 children born today will suffer a mental ailment.

The sale of aspirin has risen steadily with the rise in living standards, and some wag has figured out that for every $40 earned in the United States somebody gets a headache.

The price of prosperity-worry—is also shown by the widespread increase of the number of people who are unable to slumber without taking a sleep capsule, and who can't face the duties of the day unless they gulp "happy pills" as if they were pennants.

Half the people in America who are sick now are sick because they haven't been able to find contentment while surrounded by more creature comforts than any other people in history.

The one-home family now can get by with a single family doctor. If the hypertension, ulcer and heart attack problems are doubled in the one-home family home the two-home family home probably will require at least two doctors.

Such being the case, if we are to go on madly trying to eat higher and higher on the hog, perhaps the educational goal should be fewer kindergartens and more medical universities to turn out more physicians to write more "happy pill" prescriptions. Where will it all end? Where, indeed.

House Kills Road Improvement Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The House today killed a Senate bill setting out terms and method of removal of terms and method of removal of drainage districts by amending it to delete the enacting clause.

The action was taken on a voice vote and Rep. Cecil B. Nance Jr. of Crittenden was the only one heard by reporters to vote against the amendment.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Charles F. Smith of West Memphis, would have provided that where no definite terms were set by statute, the commissioners would serve at the pleasure of the "appointed power."

The bill, however, set out terms for appointments made hereafter.

Rep. Charles B. Roskopf of Phillips, one of those who spoke for the killing amendment, said that the bill was drafted as a result of a disagreement in Crittenden County between the county judge and an improvement district commissioner which finally reached the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Gamber Cited for Silence About Payoff

By HERBERT FOSTER

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Senate investigators were told today that a Portland, Ore., gambler gave a $500 payoff to sheriff-nominee Terry D. Schunk. They slapped an immediate contempt citation on the gambler for refusing to testify on the incident.

In rapid-fire developments before the special committee investigating labor-management racketeering:

— Self-confessed racketeer James B. Elkins testified that Clifford O. (Jimmy) Bennett, his partner in Portland's 8212 Club, reported that he made the $500 payoff to Schunk when the sheriff threatened to arrest all club customers on a raid.

— Bennett, is one of the most stubborn refusals seen recently before a congressional committee, refused to answer all questions about the incident. Resolving itself into an immediate open-ended "executive" session, the committee voted to cite him for contempt of Congress by a 5 to 10 roll call vote.

His testimony had indicated that Schunk's deputies moved into the club, sought out Bennett and threatened to arrest all the customers including juveniles and drunks. After the alleged payment, he said, only a few drunks were hauled in.

Elkins said he had expected no raid because he had been "pretty liberal looking after things." He said one of Schunk's deputies, Wallie Wallen, told him that the sheriff "wouldn't bother" the club.

Bennett, who wore a chocolate brown suit with a yellow, patterned tie, began his refusal to answer questions when asked about his occupation. When the refusal cooled, S. Earl Mudd (R-S.D.) protested that the innuendo was "obviously in contempt."

"All right," said McClellan, "let's move him a little further into contempt."

When the question of Bennett's prior presence in the hearing room became an issue, McClellan said he wanted to "make a record." He asked whether anyone in the room could testify that Bennett was there to hear Elkins testify.

Fish to Force Beef Out as Best Buy

By The Associated Press

With the advent of Lent, fish will force beef to move over and share the bargain counter this week.

Fresh fish in fillets and steaks, frozen specialties and such canned items as tuna fish all will be featured at special prices at the meat counters of the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores. Smelts, cod, halibut, swordfish, shad, flounder, haddock and salmon will be on the list in various stores.

Beef, which has almost monopolized the center of the supermarket stage in recent months, is not yielding the No. 1 position entirely, however. Round and rib roasts, steaks, chuck, pot roast, ground beef and stew beef all will be featured in some places.

Housewives who wish to vary their Lenten menus from fish will be happy to learn that eggs are cheaper this week by 2 to 4 cents a dozen. The surplus of eggs is expected to continue for some time, too, so there is little likelihood of any immediate price rise. One chain sold large, grade A eggs this week at 49 cents a dozen, 6 cents below last year at this time and 10 cents below the 1954-55 average.

To even things out a little for poultry farmers, chickens are up 2 to 4 cents a pound in some areas this week. Lamb, too, is 2 to 4 cents more expensive in scattered sections.

That is in line with the Agriculture Department's long-range forecast that consumers will pay a little more for meat this year than last.

Beef prices are expected to rise slowly, but probably will not average much higher for the year than in 1956. Pork prices, it is said, will hold above last year until November or December, when they may drop sharply.

Fruit and vegetable prices are pretty much the same as last week's, produce men say. This means the outstanding vegetable buys are potatoes from the Long Island and Maine fall crops. Arizona and California lettuce, old cabbage farm fall crops and such vegetable as beets, parsnips and turnips. Best fruit buys still are the citrus standbys, oranges and tangerines.

New potatoes from California and Florida, plus the Idaho bankers, are rated as good buys, along with topped carrots, western broccoli, new cabbage from Florida, yellow onions and the greens like collard, kale and spinach.

Yellow sweet corn from Florida became cheaper this week, moving into the good buy class. So did pascal celery, cauliflower, beans and eggplant.

Late season pears from Oregon are in the good buy range at many fruit counters. Eastern varieties of apples are reasonably good and the various types of Delicious apples from Washington also are reported to be moderately priced. Empress grapes from

Says People Won't Stand for Gambling

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus said today that he does not believe Arkansas voters will approve legalized gambling in Garland County.

Faubus said that a proposal introduced in the Senate yesterday and in the House today — which would put the matter on the 1958 election ballot — "is the proper method but I doubt that the people will approve it."

Sen. Q. Byron Hurst and Reps. Ray S. Smith and Dan Wolf, all of Hot Springs, introduced a resolution for a proposed constitutional amendment after deciding that a bill to legalize gambling had no chance of passage.

Hurst took the action in the Senate yesterday and Smith followed suit in the House today.

Faubus also expressed doubt that the legislature would agree to put the proposal on the ballot. Some of the many other proposals up for consideration are more important than the gambling question, the governor said.

Hurst said he believed the local option bill could have passed the Senate but would have stalled in the House.

He expressed optimism about the possibility of the Legislature referring the proposed constitutional amendment to a popular vote in 1958.

But Sen. C. E. Yingling of Searcy, chairman of the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee, said he doubted if his committee would approve the resolution.

Yingling added it was his "understanding that the corresponding House committee also opposed the move."

Out of numerous constitutional proposals the Legislature may refer only three or less to popular vote. The selections are made usually just before the 60-day session ends. The current Legislature ends one week from noon today.

U. S. Gives Ghana 2,000 Vol. Library

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—U. S. Vice President Nixon presented a 2,000-volume technical library to the newly independent government of Ghana today as a symbol of West African nation.

Nearing the end of a four-day goodwill visit, Nixon offered the library, valued at between $5,000 and $20,000, to Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah in an Independence Day ceremony.

Thousands of rejoicing Ghanaians still milled in the capital's streets after all-night celebrations. Most of the 72 foreign delegations showed independence gifts on the tiny country which now is an independent nation with the British Commonwealth.

Russia's delegation was reported giving Nkrumah a Soviet transport plane and some Russian automobiles.

Nixon, who leaves tomorrow for Liberia to continue his eight-nation African tour, also presented Nkrumah with an etched Steuben glass vase depicting the four freedoms of the press, assembly, religion and speech.

All members are asked to be present.
G. A.'s To Sponsor Social
The Luster Intermediate Girl's Auxiliary of Garrett Chapel Baptist Church will sponsor a "Social" in the home of their Counselor, Mrs. Ethel Bizzelle, Thursday, March 14, at 7 p. m. Admission 10c. You are cordially invited to attend.
Officers of the G. A.'s are: Miss Earnestine Keel, President; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Vera Williams; Chairman of Program, Social Committee, Miss Betty Sue Keel; Chairman of Member Service Committee, Miss Margaret M. Collins; Mrs. Ethel Bizzelle, Mission Committee, Miss Freddie Simpson; Chairman of Community Councilor; Rev. F. R. Williams, Pastor.

Usher Board Sponsors Social Hour
The Usher Board of Garrett Chapel Baptist Church sponsored a "Social Hour" in the dinette of the church, under the direction of Mr. Grady Walton.
The following persons were present: Mesdames Ethel Bizzelle, Willie K. Mitchell, Georgia R. Hickles, Willie Mae English, Icie Davis, Lula Westbrook, Marie Williams, Margaret Nell Williams, Earnestine Pondexter, Estella Hill; Misses Vera Williams, Barbara Gloria, and Shirley Keel; Patricia Williams, Mary Lou Walton, and Lena Moss; Messrs. Calvin Coleman, Horace Briggs, L. C. Wyatt, and Ivy Williams, Jr.

Mrs. Rose Wilson Hostess To Esther Circle
The Esther Circle of Loneoke Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Rose Wilson Friday evening March 1, with the Chairman, Mrs. G. L. Cox, presiding.
Devotion was conducted by Mrs. James E. Coby. Devotional subject "How Bright is My Light."
Lesson topic, "Trials and Tribulations," was taught by Mrs. Ola Malone, Chairman of Naomi Circle.

This being the "Social" meeting of the month, several visitors were present. They were: Mesdames Ola Malone, Rowena Taylor, Savannah Pigum, Wordia Stuart, Cora Bell Carrington, Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Coby, and Mr. Richard Wilson.
Refreshments were served by Esther Circle from the dining room table which was decorated in pink and white, with a beautiful center piece of sweet Peas and greenery.
While the hostess prepared the refreshments, Mrs. Coby conducted a "Bible Quiz."
Special feature of the evening was an Inch Rally. Each person present was measured around the waist and laughingly paid a penny per inch for the measurement. The game was enjoyed by all, and it was a financial success. Several persons who were not able to attend, sent their "measurement pennies."
The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Mattie Tyree, this evening. Mrs. G. L. Cox, Chairman; Rev. J. E. Coby, Pastor; Mrs. Rose Wilson, Reporting.

BUFFALO GRASS

CHAPTER XXXV
him peering through the window. (To Be Concluded)

"I knew about Jim before I ever came to Pawnee City," Alder went on. "I'd been in Texas. I found the ambulance, the wooden treasure chest, and what was left of my brother? You didn't bother to search him. He was just another dead Johnny Reb... when you left him."

"Morgan!" cried Jagger suddenly. "Morgan shot your brother."

"I know Jim was wearing a gray uniform - not like me - and you were wearing a blue. You were doing the job you had to do - and he was doing his. But murder - Mr. Jagger, that's another horse."

"Murder?"
"I found my brother's bones two years ago," Alder went on remorselessly.
"We were after your brother, but he was giving us a run for it. Morgan brought down one of the horses while we were on horseback. It was over 200 yards and he got the horse. That upset the ambulance and we charged your brother. He whanged back at us and Morgan got him with a single shot."

"With what kind of a gun?"
"His carbine."
"And the second bullet? The one through the head?"
"When your brother went down, Morgan ran up. He drew his revolver and shot your brother to finish him off."

"While he was lying on his back?"
Alder looked at Jagger for a long moment. Then Jagger played his trump card. He took from his pocket the resolution he had received from Chad Morgan as mayor of Pawnee City.
He handed it to Alder, who read it. "Do you know what this does to me?" Jagger asked. "When the cattle stop coming here, I'm through. My bank goes bust. I lose the yards, this hotel. Do you know now who it is I want you to kill?"

"Morgan!"
"Yes - Morgan. The man who murdered your brother. Ten thousand dollars in cash paid to you as soon as the jobs done?" He added, "I could save that ten thousand, Alder. If I could hit a target with a revolver... or even a rifle."

"I'll do it. Mr. Jagger," Alder said slowly. "I would have done it for nothing, but I've spent my time and my money on a long chase. And maybe," he added, "I'll take a trip to Europe with the ten thousand."

The walls of the hotel rooms were thin. Aperson in one room was alone, lying quietly on a bed, could hear the conversations in the next room, especially if one strained her ears - and put one against the wall when she heard certain names.

Morgan was fully dressed, although he was lying on his cot with the light out, when he heard someone rattling the knob of the front door. A voice called, a low, almost frantic voice "Chad - Chad are you inside?"
He exclaimed and swung his feet to the floor. He took two quick strides and was through the door that led to the office section of the building.
He reached out, caught Helen Jagger's arm and pulled her inside.

"I had to talk to you, Chad," she said almost sobbing.
"Of course," he replied.
They went into his room and he asked, "Shall I put on a light?"
"No, I'd rather talk to you in the dark, Chad," she said in a strained, low voice. "don't-don't talk for a minute. I want to say this clearly without without hysterics. She laughed shortly, harshly. "I know about Joe, Chad. I know that he's wrong, that he's been wrong all the time."

Morgan said gently, "Joe was my friend all through the war."
"The money did it," Helen went on. "The $25,000 that you - you and Joe stole. Yes, I know, Chad. I think I suspected it all along. "Make no mistake, Helen, Morgan said earnestly. "I went in of my own free will. I wanted to get rich as much as he did."

"No, that's not true, Chad. She stopped and raised her head. "He's going to kill you, Chad! Not Joe - he knows he can't do it himself. But he - he's hired Tom Alder."

"Alder!" exclaimed Morgan. "But it was Tom Alder!"
"His brother, the man you killed to get the money Tom Alder knows it. He knew the whole story and what he didn't know, Joe told him - that you - you shot Tom's brother."

Tom Alder stood in front of the Longhorn Saloon. He had been standing there for a half hour before Morgan came out of the real-estate office and saw him in front of the saloon. He stopped.
Morgan counted mentally to 10 and when Alder still made no movement and gave no sign of recognition, Morgan crossed the street and went to the Chinese restaurant. A man had a daily routine to go through, even if it was his last day on earth.

While Morgan was in the restaurant, Tom Alder remained outside the Longhorn Saloon. He saw Joe Jagger come from the direction of the hotel, was aware that Jagger was casting furtive glances at him, but Alder gave him no sign of recognition.
Jagger went into the Pawnee Savings Bank and a few minutes later, Alder caught a glimpse of

Kansas Cops Conference Title 64-57
By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press
The Kansas Jayhawks, who won the 1952 NCAA basketball championship and advanced to the finals on two other occasions, were back on the tournament trail today after clinching the Big Seven title.
Led by All America Wilt Chamberlain 24 points, Kansas defeated Kansas State at Manhattan last night 64-57 for its 10th conference win in 11 games. The nation's No. 2 team, with 20-2 seasonal record, meets Southern Methodist March 15 in the NCAA regional tourney at Dallas.
With 20 teams already qualified for the NCAA playoffs, Yale clinched at least a tie for the Ivy League crown by downing Pennsylvania 60-54.
The Ivy League, and winners of the Southern and Atlantic Coast Conference tournaments starting this afternoon, will provide the other three teams for the NCAA hoop whirl. North Carolina and West Virginia are favored in the two tourneys.
The National Invitation Tournament named Bradley and Utah to fill out the 12-team lineup that opens warfare in New York March 16. Bradley was runner-up to St. Louis in the Missouri Valley loop, while Utah finished second to Birmingham Young in the Skyline.
St. Louis, assured of the title and a NCAA berth, had the pressure off last night and swamped Oklahoma A&M 74-58.
Yale can win the Ivy title if second-place Dartmouth loses to Harvard tonight. Otherwise the Bulldogs must defeat Harvard Saturday.
Two All American players will lead their teams into tournament fray as Len Rosenbluth and his North Carolina mates take on Clemson, and Hot Rod Hundley and West Virginia open up against Davidson.
Duke plays South Carolina, Maryland meets Virginia and Wake Forest tackles North Carolina State in other Atlantic Coast loop games. Other games in the Southern Conference tourney pit Furman against Richmond, Washington & Lee against The Citadel and Virginia Tech against William and Mary.
Another All America, Columbia's Chet Forte, scored 34 points last night, but the Lions were defeated by Princeton 88-82. This led Columbia and Yale tied for third in the Ivy League.
Notre Dame and Syracuse, both headed for NCAA regional tournaments, kept on winning. Notre Dame employed the regulars less than half of the game and trounced Marquette 94-55 for the ninth Irish win in a row. A second-half spurt gave Syracuse a 69-53 victory over Cornell.

Hart, Byars Fight in Garden Tonight
NEW YORK, (UP) - Three streaks will be risked tonight when sensational young Sugar Hart and upsetter Walter Byars make their Madison Square Garden main-event debuts in a welterweight 10-rounder.
Hart of Philadelphia risks his string of seven straight knockouts and his streak of 12 straight victories while Byars of Boston stakes his unbeaten cluster of 10, which includes one draw after W's New England welterweight champion.
This meeting of streamlined Hart, with the Elvis Presley sideburns, and Stubby Byars, with the low bob-and-weave, will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 9 p. m. (CST).
Kayo specialist Hart is favored at 4-1 because of the punch which stopped 18 of his 21 opponents and he won 20 of those 21 bouts. The 21-year-old Sugar Boy lost but once, on a first-round kayo by Fred Terry two years ago.
Byars, 25, is a comparatively light hitter who stopped but four of his 9 opponents.

Older Umps To Handle Games
TAMPA, Fla., March 7 (UP) - The National League will continue its present system of letting senior ranking umpires supervise fellow umpires in the 1957 baseball season.
The American League has an overall supervisor in Cal Hubbard.
The National League umpires reported to Warren Giles, president of the league yesterday. They voted against the overall supervisor plan and approved the plan of the senior member of each working group acting as team captain.
Senior ranking umpires are E. (Lee) Ballanant, Lawrence J. Goetz, Albert Barlick and John
